

Song of the Weekend

By Lee Jackson

From the Lee Jackson Audio Community Discussion Group

(<https://www.facebook.com/groups/ljackaudiodiscgroup>)

Entry: Introduction to the Volume 1 Archive

Thank you for reading the first volume of the Song of the Weekend archive! If you were not a part of the Lee Jackson Audio Community Discussion Group on Facebook when these articles were first posted, then you missed out on a good bit of fun. Allow me to explain.

Each Song of the Weekend was selected from a field of three nominees by a vote of the members of the Discussion Group. To qualify, the songs had to be something I'd written or had a substantial hand in composing (all of the winners turned out to be songs I'd written). Once a winner had been chosen, I would do a write-up on the song and post it in the Discussion Group. This happened more or less every other week for nearly two years.

There are some imperfections in this archive. The most glaring imperfections are a pair of duplicate reviews: one of the song Cccool, and another of the song Spray. I have left these duplicates in the archive, since they were in fact voted upon and published in the Discussion Group, and since they each tell a slightly different story.

With that, I hope that you enjoy reading through the archive. Thanks once again!

- Lee Jackson

<https://dleejackson.lbjackson.com>